THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 9

By the way—Where was Allen O. Myers when the light went out?

Rex is King of Canton. He is a Republican and was elected Mayor Monday.

Frederick Ward is still in Ludlow street jail—the wrong man in the right place. And long may he stay there!

The Canton Repository having been left high and dry (very) as to topics of discussion, falls back on the weather and gives it a whole column.

"What shall be done with the old graveyard?" asks the Canton Repository. Dump the defeated Barrel and Boodle Democrats into it.

The Harpers will issue Henry M. Stanley's work on the Congo during the present month. It will appear here and in London at the same time.

Attorney General Garland says he never did, and never will, wear a dress coat. Does Garland mean a swallow-tail? If he does, we have to say that we admire both his taste and his spunk.

We are indebted to Commander J. R. Bartlett, Hydrographer of the U. S. Navy, for very fine maps of "The Red Sea and the Valley of the Nile," and of the North American Polar Regions.

The Hamilton News ciphers out that if a certain Lebanon man had settled in this city 68 years ago he would have been a millionaire today. By the way, how long has Campbell been in Hamilton? He was the only editor in Ohio rich enough to attend the New Orleans Exposition.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, who has been in New Orleans, describes that city as reaching out her unwashed shapely arms to clasp her rightful lover—Postoffice. We are afraid that there is as much truth as poetry in this, and that it applies equally well to several other cities as to New Orleans.

The American people will never forgive Jeff Davis—certainly not until he repents and begs pardon—which he will never do. Jefferson must rank with Judas Iscariot and Benedict Arnold. He was a double traitor, as treacherous to the Confederate as to the Union cause. It is of no use for certain parties to try to get the people of the country to mitigate their judgment of him.

Rev. Dr. Parkhouse, of New York, on Easter, put up this petition for General Grant:

May Thy blessing descend largely where, in these days, so many hearts are turned, and turning affectionately, to one who has won so many victories, as now he confronts the last enemy. Let him be participant with Thee in Thy last victory when thou didst overcome death and the grave. And may the same confidence which he has expressed in Thee and Thy words be his stay and his strength in this his last conflict.

On the 6th of April, 1862, the battle of Shiloh opened and on the following day Grant scored a victory. April 1, 1865, he turned Lee's right at Five Forks; April 2 he assaulted and carried the lines at Petersburg, and on the next day he entered Richmond. On the 8th of April he had thrown his cavalry across Lee's line of retreat, and on the 9th (twenty years ago today) he accepted the surrender of Lee's army.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher recently explained why the heavy Catholic vote was given to Mr. Blaine by saying, "The cardinal winked to his bishops, the bishops winked to their priests, the priests to their flocks." The Catholic Review, with a good deal of spirit, repels the allegation of the Brooklyn pastor. In the course of its remarks the Review says:

We respect that it never cost the cardinal a moment's anxiety as to whether Mr. Blaine or Mr. Cleveland or Miss Lockwood should be preferred. It is not easier to suppose that these voters had their eyes open and that they thoroughly appreciated that they never could be on the same side with Harper's Weekly, the Times and the Herald? That, indeed, was the fact. It is a pity to see a person of Mr. Beecher's intelligence and opportunities so manifestly mistaken as to the explanation of one of the most notable facts of American politics.

The St. Paul Globe, one of the largest and finest Democratic papers in the country, quotes the foregoing with apparent approval.

The Government's dangerous "Treasury surplus" is slowly wasting away.

A correspondent writes to the Boston Herald that in the convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, held last spring for a national concert of prayer for the convention which was to nominate a candidate for President, Miss Cleveland, the President's sister, turned the thoughts of the company to the future mistress of the White House, and prayers were offered that, whoever she might be, she might be endowed with heavenly graces and strength. Evidently those prayers were answered, Miss Cleveland building better than she knew.

THE NORTH POLE AND PARADISE.

We have now very good reason for believing that the late Sir John Franklin and our Captain C. F. Hall and their fellow-voyagers in the Arctic regions were not so very far out of the way when they embarked for Paradise by way of the North Pole. We really think that they reached the desired haven and are now in the enjoyment of skies that are never beclouded; of flowers that never fade and fruits that will be forever and ever abundant and the rich juice of which will never pall on the palate. We are led to this conclusion by the arguments and conclusions of a volume that has just been issued by Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., of Boston, from the pen of Dr. Warren, president of Boston University, one of our ablest educators and writers, who in it supports with reason, fact and quotations from high authority, his belief that the Garden of Eden (our terrestrial Paradise) was located at the North Pole! The author (we are told by a gentleman who has read the new book, a member of the staff of the Congressionalist, at Boston) first examines the ideas which explorers, theologians, naturalists, ethnologists, etc., have held as to the situation of Eden. Then—mentioning several new conditions of the problem, upon his hypothesis of its solution, such as the facts that there would have been for the first men but one day and one night in each year; that the stars would have had an apparently horizontal motion round and round the observer from left to right, etc.—he considers the testimony of scientific geology, astronomical geography, physiographical geology, pre-historic climatology, and paleontological botany, zoology, anthropology and ethnology, and finds that these conditions are met satisfactorily, the evidence seeming to show that the North Pole was the first habitable spot on the globe, that it had but one day and night a year, that there must have been a geologic cataclysm which destroyed the antediluvian world and transferred humanity permanently to lower latitudes. It also appears that the climate of the Arctic zone originally was temperate, if not even tropical, that this zone was the source of the flora and fauna of the world, and that it is the only locality whence the migrations of the human race can have proceeded.

Next the author inquires into ancient cosmology and mythical geography, and seeks the cradle of the race as indicated in Japanese, Chinese, Hindu, Persian, Akkadian, Assyrian, Babylonian, Egyptian and Greek thought, finding confirmatory evidence everywhere for his theory; and then he offers verifications based upon the peculiarities of a polar paradise—the Eden stars, day and zenith, the navel of the earth, the quadrifurcate river, the central tree, and the exuberance of life. He points out the significance of the results reached for the study of biology and terrestrial physics, ancient literature—the Homeric conception of the abode of the gods receiving especial illumination, and some modern errors in understanding it being corrected—the origin and earliest form of religion, the philosophy of history, and the development of civilization.

That "settles it" for us. Our "sponge" goes up higher than a kite. If the learned Doctor hasn't made out his case we certainly cannot show why. And keen and accomplished critics, who know about everything there is to be known, have had their breath taken almost away by the "immense sweep" of the distinguished author's range of investigation. Of the book, the Congressionalist's reviewer says:

Dr. Warren's belief is entirely consistent with the teaching of the Scriptures, and indeed gives a new and seemingly reasonable explanation of some passages of acknowledged difficulty. It cuts the ground from beneath the theories of certain scholars and scientists—notably some mythologists—and therefore will be opposed stoutly, but at the least it may be pronounced unhesitatingly to be as reasonable as the theories in question. It is consistent with the statements of the Bible about the early character of the human race, the fall and the deluge. It argues vigorously against the notion that the first men were degraded savages. It seems to accept the probability that our race has existed for many thousands of years, but it insists that we have fallen from an originally high estate and that, as Mr. Emerson is quoted as having once said, "The problem of restoring to the world original and eternal beauty is solved by the redemption of the soul."

Still, we would not advise the organization of excursions to the North Pole, just yet. For, evidently, the earthly Paradise is not there now, although the celestial Paradise has proved, to a number of heroic souls, only just a little beyond.

The apparent majority of Carter Harrison for Mayor of Chicago, is 334. Fraud has already been disclosed, and Smith, Republican candidate, backed by the Committee of Public Safety, will contest.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

BETHEL TOWNSHIP.

The pleasant days of last week and this have given the farmers a fair start upon their spring work.

Mr. Wm. R. Forgy has so far recovered from his accident last October as to be able to go round over the farm by the aid of crutch and cane.

Mr. Johnson, who assisted Mr. Spidle in the erection of the addition to the high school last summer, returned last week from a visit to eastern Kansas. He expects to make Kansas his future home.

The family of Benjamin Garver, one of the oldest residents of this township, moves to Emporia, Kan., this week. Miss Florence Lamme will accompany the family and spend the summer at Emporia, Kansas.

A goodly number of small property holders in this part of the county expect to devote their time and soil to the culture of berries and garden vegetables. Why would a canning establishment not be a paying investment in this part of the state?

The discouraging prospects for the approaching wheat crop, and the recent rise in price for May and June sales of wheat reported in the larger wheat markets, cause smiles of satisfaction to play upon the countenances of those who have not yet disposed of their old wheat.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Forgy attended the stock sales at London Tuesday.

The entertainment at Olive Branch last Friday night was greeted by a large crowd and every one in attendance expressed satisfaction when asked of the merits of the exercises. The entire receipts from the entertainment were $47.75. This, after the expenses are deducted, will be devoted to the purchase of a book case and books for the library.

REMO.

Mr. Jacob Stine has moved to Clinton. Stiles Brothers, of Springfield, have bought the Hamaker farm, east of Eoon.

We have had a lively campaign but it is over.

Rev. A. Hamilton preached Mrs. N. Forbeck's funeral sermon.

Easter at the M. E. church was magnificent. Ten children gave eggs filled with pennies, making 998 cents in all. [We are sorry a rush of matter prevented the printing of the full report of the exercises.—Editor.]

NEW CARLISLE.

President Long, of Antioch College, preached a stirring sermon in the Christian Church last Sabbath morning. This church has almost doubled itself in numbers and interest under the charge of Rev. C. W. Choate.

Dr. Berres has gone home to bring the balance of the family, his mother and sisters. A party from Troy, O., has leased a lot here to put up a skating rink.

The commencement exercises of our schools will take place on the evening of May 1st. There will be seven graduates.

The family of W. N. Chamberlain arrived here last Tuesday to make this their future home. They are from Highland county.

The Superior Machine Co. has been promising to start soon for several weeks, but has not started yet.

The American Manufacturing Co. is daily increasing its forces.

GLEANINGS.

It is not very generally known that Queen Victoria was once called Queen Alexandrina Victoria, and that the oaths of allegiance were in that name.

Ten million pounds of glass bottles, or 7,000,000 individual bottles, were ordered from Philadelphia manufacturers by a New York State medicine firm a few days ago.

It is more than suspected that very many of the snake bites causing death in India are caused by parents desiring put an end to superfluous offspring in a manner which defies discovery of guilt.

It is said that Congressman Phil Thompson, when a prosecuting attorney in Kentucky, once asked his twin brother to try a case for him. He did so, and the court did not know the difference.

Mrs. L. E. Pritchard, of Newburyport, has collected 500,000 canceled postage stamps. She desires to obtain the aid of a unit of volunteer contributions from many friends seems to have a prospect of success.

In a clinical lecture delivered recently Dr. Bartholomew said that, "as a rule, the criminal classes have an imperfect ear development, especially hereditary criminals. A full, distinct, well-developed lobe indicates high mental development."

Prof. W. J. Rolfe believes in the probability of Shakespeare having visited Italy. The atmosphere of many plays is thoroughly Italian. Portia says: "This night, methinks, is but the daylight sick, it looks a little paler." No such moonlight was ever seen in England.

Speaking of the maliciousness of the mocking-bird, a writer states that if young birds are placed in cages where the parent birds can have access to them they will feed their offspring regularly for two or three days, and then, as if in despair, will poison them, giving them the berry of the black ash.

A gentleman of this place several years ago accidentally threw a highly-prized piece of money into the spouting of one of our highest buildings. Not long after he was standing beneath the spouting, an English sparrow dropped the coin from its mouth, letting it fall at his feet.—Union Bridge (Md.) Era.

A French scientist has been studying the effects of altitude upon vegetation, and concludes that for each augmentation of about 100 yards there will be, as a general average, a retardation of four days; that is, other circumstances being equal, a crop planted at the sea level will appear above ground four days before a similar crop planted 300 feet above it.

Mr. Joseph Wilson Swan, the electric-light inventor, is described as a tall, handsome, north of England man, of more than middle age, with a Jovial cast of head waving with long gray locks, and a pair of penetrating eyes gleaming from beneath bushy gray brows. His house, Lauriston, at Bromley, England, is probably more completely equipped with electric devices than any other in the world.

I wish, says the San Francisco News Letter, some one would suggest some way in which those people who have made a brief visit to us could be informed for good that no one here ever dreams of using the word "Frisco." We are fond of nick-names, of pet names and of chummy "cuss" words, but we have never been familiar with the name of our city. It is the surest test of a person's alienism when he flings at us, as a grateful compliment, the word Frisco.

In preparing the rich dish of terrapin Baltimoreans take live terrapins and let them swim about in cold water until they are perfectly clean. The terrapins are then plunged into boiling water and boiled until the shells are loosened. They are taken out of the water and removed from the shells, when they are stewed with a mixture of hard-boiled egg, cream, butter, Madeira wine, flour, salt and other condiments, and a dish fit for a congressman is served.—Baltimore American.

Wisconsin is agitated because people can marry too easily in that state, and is proposing to enact a law requiring a license for entering into the bonds. Rhode Island is disturbed because people can marry too easily in that state, and the legislature is asked to impose restrictions on divorce. While human nature remains unimproved, there will be more or less trouble in the world over these two difficulties, but Rhode Island has the easier job on hand in this instance.—Utica Herald.

This year will bring with it the golden jubilee of Pope Leo's priesthood, which he received in 1835. It has been already decided in Italy to celebrate it by a league of prayers for the triumph of the church, and the prolongation of His Holiness' life; by an exhibition at the Vatican of all the offerings which will be made, specially of objects relating to public worship; by an alms for the mass, made up of offerings from the entire Catholic world; and fourthly, by a pilgrimage to the tombs of the Apostles.

A curious and patient individual has worked for an indefinite period on the following problem: When walking against a heavy rain and some wind, will I get more wet by going fast or going slow? If I move rapidly I certainly encounter more drops in a given space, but I arrive at my destination sooner. If I go slowly I shall make the journey a quarter of a mile, in one second. I would have to encounter all the rain between the two points. Would I encounter any more if I walked leisurely over the ground?

There is a man in Brooklyn who is known all over the city as the personification of ugliness. People point at him in the street and say: "There goes the homeliest man in Brooklyn." What makes him particularly a subject of popular remark is that he is said to consider himself especially favored with personal beauty. Once in two weeks, it is said, he visits his physician, struts up and down before the latter's large mirror, and, looking from the mirror to the physician, anxiously inquires if there is anything to mar his usually pleasing appearance.—New York Commercial.

"Soudan" is an Arabic word meaning "Country of the Blacks."
